

Michael S. Greco

Michael S. Greco is past president of the American Bar Association (2005-06) and partner in the Boston office of K&L Gates LLP. A trial lawyer, arbitrator and mediator, he has more than thirty-five years of litigation and arbitration experience throughout the United States and internationally in complex business and other disputes, and in crisis management and counseling business entities and individuals.

He is a member of the Massachusetts Bar and admitted to practice before the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court and all Massachusetts lower courts, the Supreme Court of the United States, the US Tax Court, the US Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, the US Court of Appeals for the First Circuit, and the US District Court for the District of Massachusetts.

The over-arching theme of his ABA presidency was renaissance -- a reaffirmation of the legal profession's core values and America's constitutional principles. His priorities included protecting constitutional rights and freedoms, improving civic education nationwide to safeguard the independence of the judiciary, advancing the rule of law at home and internationally, addressing the legal needs of lower-income persons, advancement of women, people of color and persons with disabilities in the legal profession, and improvements within the Association and legal profession.

He is a member of the American Law Institute.

He is a graduate of Princeton University and Boston College Law School, where he served as editor in chief of the Boston College Law Review and class president. After law school he clerked for the Hon. Leonard P. Moore on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and was a Fellow at the Institute of Comparative Law, University of Florence.

He is listed in Best Lawyers in America, Who's Who in American Law and Who's Who in America. Additional information appears on the K&L Gates LLP website, www.klgates.com.
